COURT REFUSES TO RECONSIDER BLACK INELIGIBILITY CASE

NEW JUSTICE DELIVERS OPINION IN ALLEGED UNFAIR TRADE METHODS CASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Three Florida oil companies lost in the supreme court today in their effort to obtain reconsideration of recent action on the ground that Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

The court gave no explanation of its refusal to grant reconsideration. That was in line with regular procedure in such action.

The announcement was made after Black had read one opinion which he had written, dissenting to another and voted against the government in a third case.

The Florida companies sought reconsideration of the court's refusal on October 18 to interfere with attempts by the security commission to subpoena telegrams sent and received by the companies.

Not only was the constitutionality of Black's appointment challenged, but the petition contended the court's action on the litigation was "invalid, ineffectual, null and void" because the new justice "could not sit in judgment x x x as an unbiased, unprejudiced, fair and impartial judge."

After recalling that Black, while chairman of the senate lobby committee, had attempted to use telegrams obtained by the communication commission from persons under investigation, the petition added:

"Justice Black recused himself in favor of the right of a government agency to coerce private telegrams from a telegraph company by the use of a blanket subpoena."

The three defendants were the Ryan Florida Corporation of Tampa, Income Royalties Company of St. Petersburg and Dallas Tex. Oil Company of St. Petersburg. They asked the court to consider their petition in the absence of Black.

The petitioners contended Black's appointment was not valid because he had been definitely adjudged ineligible by the senate.

It was the only majority opinion delivered by Black today as the court reassembled after being in recess for two weeks.

No dissent was announced. No dissent to the decision was announced. It reversed a ruling against the commission by the second circuit court of appeals at New York.

In its complaint the commission had contended that the Standard Education Society of Minnesota and the Standard Encyclopedia Corporation of Illinois told prospective buyers of the encyclopedia that they had been specially selected to receive free an encyclopedia and would have

DETAILS COMPLETED FOR CHARITY EVENT ON ARMISTICE DAY

ALL COMMITTEE HEADS ARE CALLED TO MEET TUESDAY MORNING AT C. OF C.

Despite showers during the day, members of the general arrangements committee for the Charity Horse Show on Thursday, November 11, at Melody Meadows started their final drive Monday to complete all details of the celebration with undampened enthusiasm.

Erection of the tents to house amusements features and also to provide quarters for visiting racing animals was scheduled to start Tuesday and be ready for occupancy late in the day.

Shirley Rufus Pevhouse, chairman of the race entries unit, announced that all slates were full for the day's racing program, and good contests were aligned for the morning session beginning at 10 o'clock and the afternoon card starting at 2.

Meeting Tuesday. A final meeting of the general committee has been called by General Chairman Lewis Martin for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce offices.

In the meantime, chairmen of the various sub-committees reported they were ready for action, with high hopes of taking in neat sums to be used by public charities of Corsicana to augment their budgets during the winter and spring months.

From the "amusements" managers came reports that neither the Century of Progress, Texas Centennial or San Diego Exposition could pay for the features arranged for Thursday.

A brief observation of "Armistice Day" will be held at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, and 1 p. m. Congressman Luther A. Johnson is scheduled to make an Armistice Day address.

Concessions chairmen reported that plans had been made to supply all the soft drinks, hamburgers and other refreshments.

IT WAS LADIES DAY MONDAY AT CONVENTION OF TWO-GUN MEN IN HOUSTON; MAY LILLIE HONORED

HOUSTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—It's Ladies' Day at the two-gun men's convention.

Fifty members of the National Frontiersmen's Association, here for their annual conclave, unveiled a memorial today to the late May Lillie, the only woman who ever outshot Annie Oakley.

May's husband, Maj. Gordon Lillie, "Pawnee Bill" of six-gun days—is here for the convention. So are Col. E. D. Nix, old-time Indian Territory U. S. marshal, who ordered his deputies to "bring 'em in dead" and Chris Madson, General Custer's scout at the battle of Little Big Horn, and Al Jennings, Oklahoma badman.

Another who dodged Nix's "bring 'em in dead" deputies is Elfiggo Back, pal of Billy the Kid. Back once stood off a posse of 85 cowboys for 33 hours at Socorro, N. M. He was a noted marksman.

Once they were rollicking, hard-drinking youths who slept in the pudgy sags with their guns ready for instant battle. They knew a smoking 44 or a pair of "Navies" as their best friends. These old men now are all that. These old men, friend and foe of long ago, sit around a chuck wagon campfire and smoke and tell tales of blood and whistling bullet. Jennings opened the meeting yesterday with a speech at a church.

Today P. P. Ackley of Elk City, Okla., told of plans for marking the 100th anniversary of the battle of Palo Alto, where the army and early Texans drove their cattle to Abilene, Kas., for shipment.

May Lillie, whose prowess with firearms the oldtimers are honoring, died at Pawnee, Okla., Sept. 17, 1886, of injuries suffered in an auto accident en route from Taos, N. M., after she and the major celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Lillie met May, daughter of a quiet farm family, while playing in a show in Philadelphia. He taught her to shoot glass balls and clay pigeons while riding sidesaddle.

Together the Lillies played both here and abroad. When they retired to a buffalo ranch near Pawnee, Okla., May became famed as a hostess.

"I'd like to have folks say I'm a good cook," she once said. "Annie Oakley was a wild west show performer of the 80's reputed to have outshot some of the best men marksmen of the time. That term 'Annie Oakley' is derived from the fact she was supposed to be able to punch tickets with a pistol shot."

Diamonds Worth $30,000 Secured Dallas Robbery

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (AP)—Diamonds valued at more than $30,000 were taken from a safe in the offices of Universal Laboratories, manufacturing chemists, manager B. O. Young said he discovered this morning.

He said the diamonds were taken from a large safe, the back of which had been blown out by nitroglycerin. The robbers missed $40,000 worth of diamonds locked in an inner chamber.

Young said and a ring valued at $850 was found on the floor. The jewels were not insured, E. J. Goodier, their owner, said. The office had been occupied until 2 p. m. Sunday, Young said.

HEAVIEST FIGHTING SHIFTS TO SHANGHAI SOUTHERN SECTOR

COUNTER OFFENSIVE BY CHINESE IN ATTEMPT TO ISOLATE INVADERS

(By The Associated Press.) Heaviest fighting in the Chinese-Japanese conflict shifted today to the south of Shanghai where the Chinese launched a counter-offensive to isolate Japanese forces from their landing base on Hangchow Bay.

Fighting continued also to the west of Shanghai along Soochow creek. Japanese asserted that 4,000 Chinese were retreating from the area between St. Mary's Hall and Kwangwha University, adjoining the International Settlement.

More than 200 passengers were killed or injured, the Chinese ministry or railways said, when Japanese planes bombed a south-bound Tsinan-Pukow express at Sishipo station, about 150 miles northwest of Nanjing.

In Tokyo, Japanese officials studied a new invitation to co-operate with the Brussels conference in seeking a settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

DALLAS DELEGATES SEEKING MEETING BAPTISTS IN 1938

BAPTIST GENERAL CONVENTION OF TEXAS OPENS IN EL PASO TUESDAY

EL PASO, Nov. 8. (AP)—A trainload of Dallas delegates to the Baptist general convention of Texas opening here tomorrow arrived this morning and opened a strenuous campaign to land the 1938 session.

The convention is meeting in El Paso for the first time in sixteen years and Dallas messengers in an intensive button-hole campaign were announcing it had been almost that long since the denomination had gathered in the North Texas city.

Thus far no other city had announced plans to seek the next session.

The executive board of the women's missionary union, representing two hundred thousand Baptist women under the leadership of Mrs. B. A. Copas of Fort Worth met this morning to lay a program for the women's convention, preliminary to general sessions, which opens this afternoon.

Simultaneously, the Baptist pastors and laymen's conference will organize forces for a battle against legalization of sale of liquor by the drink as proposed at the last special session of the Texas legislature. The relationship of laymen to the church and how pastors and laymen may work in closer harmony are other subjects for discussion.

Dr. J. B. Tidwell, head of the Bible department of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, will formally call the general sessions of convention together late tomorrow.

WALL STREET SPECULATION IS EXPECTED TO MEET CRITICISM AT COMING CONGRESS SESSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Sentiment expressed by some returning members of congress indicated today that Wall Street speculation may be sharply criticized at the special session of congress convening Nov. 15.

These legislators, chiefly from the west in their private comments have blamed the stock market slump and declining industrial incomes on speculation.

There has been no evidence, however, of a concerted move among members to investigate or legislate against the market.

Nevertheless, these expressions have increased the belief in some quarters that the approaching session may parallel in several respects the special session at the start of President Roosevelt's first term, which launched the new deal.

Major enactments at that session were the securities act, an

FEBRUARY IS NEW DATE FOR VISIT OF WINDSORS TO U. S.

PARIS, Nov. 8. (AP)—A source close to the Duke and Duchess of Windsor said today the couple had decided tentatively on February as a possible new date for their postponed trip to the United States.

The Duke and Duchess believe that by that time "the criticism will have subsided," making the tour possible, one of their associates said.

Postponement of the tour, which was brought to the Windsors to America Nov. 11, was announced Friday night. At that time the Duke said that there had been "grave misconceptions" over his motives.

WALLACE SUGGESTS CORN RESERVE FOR YEARS OF DROUGHT

EVER NORMAL GRANARY IDEA ADVANCE AS ANSWER TO UNSETTLING SITUATION

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8. (AP)—Establishment of an ever normal granary—an adequate reserve of corn to be set aside in years of plenty to be drawn on in periods of scarcity—was advocated today by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, as the answer to corn belt droughts which disturb the nation's economic stability.

Wallace, in an address prepared for delivery on a national radio network (NBC), outlined his corn crop producing and marketing proposals to farmers and their representatives from Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Indiana.

The secretary of agriculture emphasized that the problem of corn production and marketing was closely linked to livestock raising, chiefly hogs, and soil conservation in protecting the corn belt in years to come.

Recalling previous government efforts at corn crop control, Wallace asserted, "anyone who faces the facts with an open mind must come to these conclusions:

"First, that as things are today, it is unfair to subject farmers alone to unlimited competition; second, that there is no magic way of reopening quickly our big export markets; and third, that corn belt farmers can not afford to rely on chemistry for a quick solution of their problems."

"All of which," he said, "leads to this fourth conclusion. The best way now open to deal with the corn problem is through co-operation of farmers in a program that will iron out the cycles of glut and scarcity; create an ever normal granary giving farmers and consumers better protection against food and feed shortages due to drought; stop the ruthless destruction of soil which has resulted from cut-throat competition among farmers; and safeguard agriculture, business and labor against the disaster of a farm price collapse. x x x."

FORMER PRESIDENT HOOVER IN WARNING AGAINST PROPAGANDA

TERMS FREE SPEECH, PRESS AND DEBATE LIFESTREAM OF LIBERALISM

WATERTOWN, Me., Nov. 8. (AP)—Termining free speech, free press and free debate the "very life stream of advancing liberalism," Herbert Hoover today warned against the nation to guard against the "poison" of propaganda.

At the same time the former president asserted that in the last 15 years "every dictator who has ascended to power has climbed on the ladder of free speech and free press" and then "suppressed all free speech except his own."

To counteract propaganda he prescribed "more free speech," adding "we must incessantly expose intellectual dishonesty and the purpose that lies behind it."

"x x half truth can be defeated with the whole truth."

Hoover spoke at Colby College on the 100th anniversary of the death of Elijah Parish Lovejoy, a graduate of the college and an editor at Alton, Ill., who perished defending his right to print what he wished against slavery. The address was broadcast on a nationwide hookup.

A free press, Hoover said, is far more than a publisher's privilege. It is a right of the people. But the publishers are its first lines of defense. They deserve the gratitude of the country for the zeal with which they have driven back every attempt at legal restrictions.

Describing propaganda as a "sinister word meaning half-truth or any other distortion of truth," Hoover said it "moves by tainting of news, by making synthetic news and opinions and canards."

OFFICIAL FORECAST OF 18,243,000 BALES ANNOUNCED MONDAY

FEDERAL BUREAU ESTIMATE RAISED FOR FOURTH CONSECUTIVE MONTH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—An official forecast for America's largest cotton crop, 18,243,000 bales, added today to difficulties of government leaders attempting to shape a farm program for the special session of congress.

Government estimators said the record production was indicated by November 1 conditions. They increased their forecast totals on the 1937 crop for the fourth consecutive month.

The new estimate was 670,000 bales above the indicated production a month ago, 2,650,000 bales larger than the first 1937 estimate in August, and 5,844,000 bales above last season's production.

Estimated, the 1937 crop could be 255,000 bales more than the previous largest crop of 17,978,000 bales in 1926. The only other time cotton production exceeded 17,000,000 bales was in 1930.

Farm administration officials who joined reporters in a locked room where the government crop board announces its estimates were silent about the new forecast.

After the cotton estimate was revised upward about 1,500,000 bales last month, Secretary Wallace reduced by 2,000,000 acres the cotton goal under next year's soil conservation benefit program.

The crop board also increased its estimate on the average yield to 25.8 pounds an acre for the entire cotton belt. This topped all previous yields.

Subject to Damage. The board's only comment was that most of the remaining picked cotton was "open and subject to weather damage."

Increased acreage still accounted for this year's record production figure. The 1926 crop of 17,978,000 bales was produced on 44,610,000 acres the record acreage. This year's crop is being produced on 33,730,000 acres but the acre yield is 25.8 pounds, a record picking.

The previous record yield was 23.1 pounds in 1898. Last year's yield was 19.6 pounds. Abandonment of acreage this year was much less than average and favorable weather and other conditions combined to boost the yield.

The acreage estimated each month after the first official forecast in August. At that time 15,593,000 bales were forecast. The September estimate was 16,098,000 bales. It was increased in October to 17,573,000 bales—almost two million bales more than the year's first official forecast.

Ginnings Are High. The census bureau reported today the 1936-37 ginning bales, counting round as half bales, of this year's growth had been ginned prior to Nov. 1, compared with 9,882,530 to that date last year, and 7,743,612 in 1935.

The indicated acre yield indicated production by states, this year and last year included: Virginia, 290 pounds per acre, and production 40,000 bales; Arkansas, 208 and 33,000 last year; Louisiana, 334 and 1,080,000 against 260 and 701,000; Texas 191 and 5,050,000 against 121 and 2,933,000; Oklahoma 160 and 858,000 against 92 and 290,000; Arkansas 287 and 1,830,000 against 227 and 1,295,000.

JOB BEING FOUND FOR UNEMPLOYED IN CORSICANA SECTOR

TEXAS STATE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE IS SHOWING EX- CELLENT RESULTS

In addition to the 1892 farm workers placed in Navarro county during October, the monthly report of the Texas state employment service showed that jobs were found for 29 people in Corsicana, bringing the total to 12,185 jobs filled by the employment service last month in this district, comprising 14 counties.

These jobs were filled in response to orders sent in by local employers. W. S. Basham, manager, said yesterday. Some of these employers wanted special types of workers. The employment service files were searched for workers who could meet the requirements, and when those who could qualify were located, they were referred to the employer for interviews.

There was the employer who needed extra saleswomen on Saturdays, another who phoned for some laborers to do wheelbarrow work. These referrals were made by the employment service in order to save the employer the time and effort necessary to round up workers.

Many orders came to the office last month as a result of visits made by a contact person who calls regularly upon local firms, explaining the functions of the state service and ascertaining the immediate needs of employers.

Last month 85 new people registered at the employment office, some of them already working but wanting better jobs, others seeking work for the first time through this clearing house for employment. Many of the new applicants had been directed to the office at the postoffice building by local employers who could not hire them at the present time but might wish to do so at a later date, and wanted to keep in touch with them through the card renewal system maintained by the employment office.

PETE TRAXLER IS FACING TRIAL FOR CAPITAL OFFENSE

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 8.—(P)—Attorneys expected to start picking a jury today to try a capital case against Pete Traxler, who as an escaped convict led Texas and Oklahoma possemen on a wild chase before being captured by two Oklahoma hostages near Hugo last summer.

Traxler was indicted as a habitual criminal on a charge of robbery with firearms, a capital offense. Under the habitual criminal act, a verdict of conviction would mean one of two penalties—life imprisonment or death.

The state will call J. C. and Howell Dunlap, Walker county ranchers, to testify Traxler, Fred Tindol and Charlie Chapman robbed them after a sensational break from the Eastham prison farm north of here.

Tindol was killed and Traxler wounded when two Oklahoma farmers wrested their guns from them and became captors instead of captives. Chapman still is at large.

What It Means:

The Labor Vote

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The November elections prove one thing—deuces will be wild in America's political poker game next year, and again in 1940.

And labor will hold the deuces against the old-line Republican and Democratic parties.

While local issues cluttered up the results this year in such cities as New York, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Canton and Akron, Ohio, the labor vote played a conspicuous part in these and other municipal elections.

Through them all, however, four important facts stick out to plague the regular political party organizations.

1. Labor groups can organize big blocs of votes in eastern industrial areas without the help of any outside forces.

This most important fact was demonstrated in New York City. There the American Labor party entered the political ring for the first time a year ago to vote for President Roosevelt and Governor Herbert H. Lehman, the Democratic candidates. The labor party surprised everybody by polling well over 200,000 votes.

The Votes in Detroit. This year, the New York labor organization gave its support to a Republican candidate for district attorney, and mustered another sharp surprise. Its vote stood well over 400,000—almost double the number cast in 1936.

This time mind you, Republican and not Democratic candidates were supported.

Likewise in Detroit, where labor took a sound beating, the CIO nevertheless rolled up more than 150,000 votes in its first election. That's a big chunk of votes in anybody's language.

2. Labor groups, especially if they should unite, are in a position to hold a balance of power between the old-line Democratic and Republican parties in thickly populated eastern cities.

That's why labor can hold the deuces in the political poker game that will run through the congressional elections next year and the presidential race of 1940. Both old-line parties necessarily will be on needles and pins. They can't afford to shoe off their traditionally conservative supporters, and yet their easiest chance to win may rest with the labor vote.

3. An Item For 1940.

The balance-of-power principle was demonstrated more or less clearly in New York and Pittsburgh the other day. Labor in New York threw 400,000 votes to Republican-Fusion LeGuardia for mayor. That's almost exactly his margin of victory. In Pittsburgh the labor group, again identified loosely with the CIO, helped put the city in the Democratic fold.

Conceivably, the American Labor party, the label used in New York, could pile up enough votes to swing the whole balance of power in New York state in 1940.

—and New York has 40-odd electoral votes.

3. Labor's direct political action is too young a movement to stand shoulder to shoulder with the old parties and hope to carry an important election.

Detroit, where non-partisan municipal elections have been the rule for many years, didn't like the idea of a frankly labeled CIO labor candidate. The Michigan auto city, where the CIO is highly organized, decisively swamped the CIO mayoral candidate, Patrick H. O'Brien.

Eastern Vote Heavens. That's further evidence that labor leaders will probably play their cards with the old parties, rather than risk auto election in the 1938 and 1940 elections.

4. Labor's voting strength counts heaviest in the biggest cities east of the Mississippi river. There has been no proof yet that new political action is effective in the western states among organized workers, or in smaller cities of the east.

Labor's defeat in Akron and Canton, Ohio, city elections the other day illustrates labor's weakness so far in those medium-sized industrial cities. There the traditionally Republican candidate swept into office despite the helping hand that CIO gave the Democrats.

Civil Liberties In Grave Danger Maverick Asserts

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8.—(P)—In such places as Dallas, Tampa, and Harlan county, Ky., Rep. Maury Maverick charged today, sacred civil liberties "practically do not exist."

In a speech before the San Antonio Ministerial Alliance the Texas congressman warned that "civil liberties are in danger" in this country and that free government cannot be maintained by imitating fascism and communism.

In Dallas, Tampa and Harlan county in recent months there have been labor disturbances. He described them as "black spots" on the American map. "The churches with their ministers and laymen should do everything to promote civil and religious liberty," he said.

BOTH CLUBS SCORED IN FINAL QUARTER; GOAT LINE STRONG

STATE HOME UNABLE DENT RUGGED GOAT LINE FIRST OF GAME

By PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor

Groesbeck Goats, playing a sensational brand of football, overcame a fighting State Home Lad combination on Garity field Friday night and emerged with a well-earned 13-7 victory in a District 16-B conference engagement. The Goats throttled the running attack of the Lads except in a brief portion of the final quarter and stopped the aerial attack with a well-planned defense.

Pittman and Wilson, backs, and Wilkinson, end, proved sensational performers, but that line from tip to tip was what turned the tide. The most vicious of the Lads failed to make any appreciable headway while the Goats spent considerable time in the Lads' backfield. The State Home opened a vicious aerial attack and downed the Goats in the lot in a desperate effort to snatch victory after the running game failed to click but the Goats staved off the threats.

Groesbeck marched up and down the Lads on numerous occasions and threatened continually but the defense of the Lads stopped them when in danger.

Aerial attacks ended the two tallies made by the visitors, the first early in the second period when Pittman, a fine back and runner, passed to Wilkinson for 19 yards. The second touchdown came early in the fourth when Pittman passed to Perry for 12 yards. Groesbeck completed only four passes during the evening, but two of them were for touchdowns and another played the ball on the 12-yard line from where one of the touchdowns was made.

After having been stopped consistently, the State Home crew started a savage and devastating attack after Groesbeck had scored a second marker in the fourth period. Taking the ball on their own 40-yard stripe, the Lads, with the line charging and the backs marching 10 yards and a touchdown. Thornton carried the brunt of the ball lugging on this drive.

Britton carried the ball frequently and the passing game was rushed so fast that his passes were not accurate.

Early Game Thrust. State Home made one serious threat to score early in the first period when Thornton tore off 25 yards at end to the Groesbeck 12-yard stripe. Thompson made 2 yards and then Thornton was stopped, giving the Goats the ball on their own 8-yard line on downs.

Expecting a punt, Pittman from down put formation drove 13 yards for a first down and then Wilson ripped off 12 yards to get out of danger. Pittman was hurt after he had skinned right and left legs in the 27-yard zone. The Goats appeared headed for pay dirt, but a bad pass from center was recovered by State Home on the 34-yard line to end the threat.

Exchange of fumbles occurred in the second and Groesbeck recovered a fumble and started a drive toward the State Home goal. The running plays placed the Lads on the 10-yard line from which Pittman flipped the ball to Wilkinson who sped the remaining distance for the touchdown, but the point was missed.

Punt Blocked. Groesbeck broke through and blocked a State Home punt and recovered it on the Lads' 15-yard line as the half ended.

During the intermission between the halves, the Lads' squads paraded on the field an executed several interesting stunts.

Stout Goats Defense. State Home had the Goats in considerable trouble in the first period after a 50-yard punt had gone out of bounds on the Goats 3-yard stripe. The Lads recovered a fumble on the Goats 26-yard line and Britton made 2 yards, but Groesbeck recovered a fumble a moment later and stopped that threat. State Home had possession of the ball in midfield as the third quarter ended.

The Lads made 14 yards and then picked up four more. A pass was incomplete and then a State Home punt was blocked, the ball bounding back about 40 yards before it was recovered on the State Home 50-yard line. The ball went over on downs as the punt was attempted on fourth down.

DUKE OF WINDSOR IS DECLARED MERELY POSTPONING US TRIP

FORMER BRITISH MONARCH FEELS PUBLIC OPINION WILL SOON CHANGE

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor is considering a journey to Soviet Russia to balance his recent tour of Nazi Germany, a person close to the royal party said tonight.

The purpose of such a journey, it was said, would be to show the world that the former King of England plays no politics. It would be an extension of his European tour and might also include Scandinavia, Europe's neutral zone.

For the moment, however, the duke's plans were said to be left in the air by his apparently post-poning his journey to the United States.

Previously a member of the duke's suite said one reason for that postponement was the feeling that the duke's royal party that United States officials had taken a "lukewarm attitude" toward the former king's visit.

This, coupled with American jealousy of the duke's visit, had led to the decision to make it advisable to call off the journey.

A spokesman for the American embassy said that Ambassador William C. Bullitt had called on the duke and duchess to say goodbye before the postponement decision was made known.

The duke, it was said, sent a letter to the department of the interior at Washington asking "suggestions" for his itinerary. The reply, which mentioned several public works projects, was said to have been considered by the duke as a basis for his plans.

Some members of the duke's suite were represented as having felt that the couple should have been offered a state dinner at the White House instead of the plan to dine at the Waldorf Astoria, which Mrs. Roosevelt was to have been absent.

Better Atmosphere.
These advisers were said to feel that a better atmosphere should be created for an American journey, possibly next spring. It was disclosed that the possibility of making the tour at that time was being studied.

A press conference scheduled for this afternoon was not held. A member of the duke's suite declared the Windsors "haven't the slightest idea of what they are going to do."

Persons close to the Windsors described the former British monarch in America would "change" what he had been told about the way for the trip which was to have started today but was postponed by Windsor because of "grave misconceptions" of his motives.

The itinerant duke and duchess were busy engaged, an associate said, in discussing what next to do, where next to go—now that their American tour had been delayed.

Hotel attendants reported "not the slightest" signs of an imminent departure since the duke's postponement statement was distributed last night.

The statement said the duke made the postponement with "great reluctance" and was motivated by "grave misconceptions" which have arisen and misstated the motives and purpose of the tour.

Based on Two Factors.
British sources said the decision probably was based on two factors:

1—The duke desired not to create any possible strain on British-American relations and his visit would offend British generally.

2—The duke considered that in view of a critical resolution by the Federation of Labor in Baltimore—the duchess' home town—the time was not ripe for a visit.

The statement added that "the duke emphatically repeats that there is no shadow of justification for any suggestion he is allied with any industrial system or that he is for or against any particular political or racial doctrine, x."

(The Baltimore labor organization on Wednesday adopted a resolution demanding that the duke not be "taken in" by "glumming parties professing to help and to study labor.") It criticized the Windsors' recent visit to Germany.

Bedaux Attacked.
The resolution also attacked Charles E. Bedaux, an industrial engineer and friend of the Windsors, who was to have been their guide on a 37-day tour to study industrial conditions and housing. The Federation called Bedaux an "arch enemy" of labor because of his industrial work system known to labor as the "stretch-out."

The duke's primary consideration since he gave the British royal last December for the American woman was said to have been to "keep himself out of any trouble."

The duke did not want undue publicity as a result of the labor criticism of his projected tour and the business policies of his friend, Bedaux.

(Bedaux, who had gone to the United States to prepare a welcome for the Windsors, yesterday asked the duke to be relieved "completely from all duties in connection with your American tour because of mistaken attacks on me here.")

The duke, an associate said, therefore decided to withdraw temporarily and end what threatened to be a troublesome situation.

German Tour Mistake.
LONDON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Indications that the Duke of Windsor's most ardent defenders now think his German tour was a mistake were seen today in British reaction to his decision to cancel his United States trip.

There also was a feeling American charges he had become a tool of fascist or Nazi propaganda have intensified British opinion against his returning home.

However, there was no criticism of his cancelling his tour to the United States in view of American criticism of his connections with Charles Bedaux, American representative of the former king.

Washington Reactions.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Socially-minded residents of the capital resigned themselves today

To a fall season that will not be enlivened by the presence of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

State Department officials were silent on the change of plans, as were the British embassy and the White House.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said he did not believe it was advisable for him to comment. Green previously had said he opposed a resolution criticizing the duke's choice of Charles Bedaux, effendi of the labor movement, as his guide for the American tour.

The author of the resolution, Joseph P. McCurdy, expressed surprise at the postponement and uttered a forceful "no when asked if it was his wish to see the royal couple. McCurdy had called Bedaux an "arch enemy of labor."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today he had had no correspondence "perfunctory or otherwise" with the Duke of Windsor.

Informed reports from Paris that the Duke's encourage regarded as "perfunctory" a message from Ickes outlining an itinerary for the Duke's proposed American tour, the Secretary said his only correspondence had been with Charles Bedaux, American representative of the former king.

ANNA MARIE HAHN FOUND GUILTY OF DEATH OF AGED MAN

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, 31-year-old blonde mother, was convicted of first degree murder today in the poison death of Jacob Wagner, 78-year-old retired gardener. The jury did not recommend mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

The jurors spent about two and one half hours in actual deliberation, since receiving the cast last night.

Hahn would be the first woman ever executed in Ohio.

She appeared in the courtroom nervous and distraught, her blonde hair disheveled and twisted a handkerchief between her fingers.

Judge Bell did not specify when he would sentence Mrs. Hahn. Her chief defense counsel, Joseph H. Hoodin, said he would ask for a new trial, but the state supreme court.

Mrs. Hahn, tried on a charge of fatally poisoning Wagner to obtain his small fortune, was indicted in the poison death of George Gellman and was accused of killing two other elderly men for the same motive.

Judge Bell offered a choice of the state's case, conviction without recommendation, calling for electrocution; conviction with mercy recommended, making life imprisonment mandatory; and acquittal.

Hahn, accused of killing by poison three elderly men besides Wagner, sat motionless but staring fixedly at Prosecutor Dudley M. Outcalt as he closed the state's case.

"We have here the most heartless, cruel, greedy person that has come in the scope of our lives x x x how no mercy."

The Ring Theft. Mrs. Hahn Aug. 10 for theft of diamond rings belonging to a Colorado Springs, Colo., hotel keeper disclosed, police said, she had accompanied Wagner, a 67-year-old Cincinnati cobbler, to the resort city, where he died Aug. 1.

A Colorado Springs chemist reported poison found in Obendorfer viscera.

Within a week after her arrest, Mrs. Hahn was indicted for poisoning Wagner and George Gellman, 67, who was found dead in bed July 6 at his home in Cincinnati.

Bodies of Wagner, Gellman and Albert Palmer, 72, who died March 26, were exhumed for chemical analysis.

Dr. Robert A. Kohoe, authority on poisons, testified during the trial that a lethal dose of poison, similar to contents of a bottle found by police in the defendant's home, was detected in Wagner's viscera. City Chemist O. P. Behr told the jury he found poison in pots and pans containing left-overs of food in Gellman's attic room.

Alleged Victim Survives.
George Hein, 72-year-old former coal dealer in the Hahn neighborhood, described by Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt as "Mrs. Hahn's only living witness to her plot to slay for gain," appeared at the trial in a wheel chair as a witness for the state. He declared he became permanently crippled during an association with Wagner, to whom he said he loaned $2,000.

Handwriting experts testified Mrs. Hahn forged Wagner's name to a $1,000 check, and that she had written what she represented to be Wagner's last will naming "my niece, Anna Hahn," as principal beneficiary.

The defendant on the witness stand nearly two days, explained her motives for the slaying. "Wagner said I should take $1,000 from his account so I could pay his bills and care for him."

She followed her 12-year-old son, "dear," to the witness stand to deny giving poison to anyone. Concerning Obendorfer's death she testified that she was on a "trip to see the mountain scenery" on the day he died, and she tried to bring him back for a vacation, not to take care of him.

Outcalt summoned 96 witnesses in prosecution of Mrs. Hahn's case, while the defense called up to the testimony of three—the principal herself, her son, and Dr. William McAnally Chicago toxicologist.

REPUBLICANS PLAN SPECIAL COMMITTEE FORMULATE POLICIES

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The executive committee of the Republican National Committee met today with the power to appoint party policies in advance of the 1938 and 1940 campaigns.

Creation of the commission, to be known as the "committee on program," was the first step taken by the national committee when it met yesterday to consider former President Herbert Hoover's proposal for an unofficial convention of the party to formulate policy.

Although the personnel of the advisory group was not expected to be selected until after conferences with leaders of the party and republican members of congress, a source close to the executive committee predicted a chairman might be selected today.

The program committee was instructed to complete its work at the earliest possible opportunity, adding to its membership it is were found expedient. It was directed to report its recommendations to the national committee in effect, before the national committee.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank each and everyone of my many friends for their kind thoughts and the good deeds they did for me during my illness, and for the beautiful flowers and cards also. May health and happiness follow you always.

—Reba Atterson.

ADVISORY COUNCIL OF SOCIAL SECURITY FINDING OUT ABOUT PENSIONS AND JOBLESS FUNDS

By MILO THOMPSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The advisory council on social security, examining operation of the law which provides for old age pensions and unemployment compensation, will learn from witnesses that it works something like this: Uncle Sam has insisted that John Wage-Earner and his employers must lay aside money for a rainy day.

He makes certain they do it by taking part of the money out of John's pay envelope and part out of his employer's till. Uncle Sam holds the stakes.

There are $4,000,000 John Wage-Earner's, but the council heard yesterday that the number probably will grow to $2,000,000 by 1960. The stakes, at the present rate of taxation, will amount to $40,000,000 by 1960.

It would be impossible for Uncle Sam, to put that much money away in vaults because there isn't that much money in the land. The total money supply last year was roughly $17,400,000,000, furthermore, that must keep circulating.

But it never was intended Uncle Sam should salt away the money. The legislature has put it in government bonds, the pension in bonds of a special kind and the unemployment money in an government bonds earning a satisfactory rate of interest.

In other words, he has to borrow back the cash and currency and turn it loose in the channels of industry and commerce by paying his bills with it. In its place he puts the bonds, which differ from cash and currency primarily in that they draw interests for the reserves.

Uncle Sam's treasury does not go through every step of this process to accomplish the result. It notes the amount of incoming money, dumps it into the general purse, and puts away in the reserve funds the equivalent in bonds.

When interest on the bonds is due, congress has to appropriate the money to pay it. Just as it would if someone else held the bonds. Then the treasury uses the interest money for paying old age pensions, etc.

Treasury officials say the funds thus are not only kept safely but are increasing. They add that the only hazard, assuming the nation endures and its credit is good, is that some future congress might authorize a change in the rules.

Objectors to the procedure, who are to be heard by the advisory council, are not pressing concern with the legal or moral aspects of the funds so much as with the rapidity of the rate of increase and the questioned necessity for the projected reserves.

SOVIET RUSSIA'S MASSES PAUSE IN INCREASED INDUSTRIAL PLAN TO OBSERVE NATION'S BIRTHDAY

MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's masses paused today in their labor toward increased industrial output to open the celebration of their nation's 20th birthday.

The bolshevik revolution of 1917 will be commemorated with the customary fervor of oratory, a parade and a military review in Red Square tomorrow, anniversary of the seizure of power by the late Nikolai Lenin and his followers.

But festivities really began today. Red banners and portraits of communist leaders, particularly that of Joseph Stalin, were spread over building fronts in much of the city.

Few were the faces of old bolsheviks who stood beside Lenin 20 years ago. Many of those men had been trust aside in recent bolshevik execution, imprisonment or disgrace—accused of dissension from Stalin's supreme leadership.

Newspapers printed a brighter picture for the celebration. Reports of executions, denunciations of enemies of Stalinism in officialdom and exposures of industrial lag gave way to columns of the achievements of the Soviet regime.

That the purge, which has taken hundreds of lives and put thousands in prisons or exile, is not yet over was indicated, however, in some semi-official quarters.

"The party removes without hesitation and will remove from their posts all those who do not want to work in a bolshevik way, who do not want to root out the enemies and who are careless in dealing with the needs and requirements of the toilers, no matter what their former service," the Bolshevik magazine of the communist party.

MIDDLE-AGED SKILL.

General Hugh Johnson has been exposing the faults of an employment policy which discriminates against middle age. He assails this policy not only for its inhumanity but for its inefficiency.

The human side of the problem is most obvious. There are vast numbers of men and women today in the United States who cannot get work merely because they are more than 40 years old, although they may be at their best.

Middle age, too, is the period during which family responsibilities are usually heaviest. Thus such discrimination is shockingly anti-social.

It brings poverty and grief to men, women and children for a reason that no previous civilization in history would have regarded as justified. It results in discouragement, illness and suicide for parents, and in deprivations that keep children from getting a fair start in life. It throws families on public charity and destroys their self-respect.

Industrially and commercially also it is a crazy policy. Great numbers of the men so discriminated against are highly skilled. Their knowledge and skill are thrown away, along with their steadiness and faithfulness.

And what is gained by the employers practicing such discrimination? Gen. Johnson, presenting figures from experts, maintains that the reason usually given, that of saving in liability insurance, and so on, by employment of younger men, is trivial and unimportant.

Shall youth then be discriminated against, to give these people work? Shall youth be deprived of its chance? The general maintains that this attitude is largely sham—that youth today has as good a chance as it ever had in history—that boys and girls need no special favors, and should expect none, at the expense of older persons with acquired skills and family responsibilities.

PEACEMAKING

Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who thinks all American warships and fighting men should remain at home, is opposed even to joining that nine-power conference on the Far East, called at the suggestion of our government.

"War is like a contagious disease," he says, "and there is no safeguard against it except isolation. America is being asked to provide the pitcher and catcher, the bats and balls and the grounds to play on."

"There are two kinds of 'quarantine,' one self-imposed and the other imposed by the police. In this we shall be the party which will have to nail the yellow sign on the Japanese door. None of the other powers are in a position to do so. That leaves us to do the fighting."

There are dangers, to be sure, in any attempt at quarantining a case of contagious disease. The fellow doing the job may catch some of the germs, or be bitten by the dog while he's tacking a sign on the house. Still, if there were no peacemakers, things would be worse than they are. And we may come back from Brussels intact. We may even accomplish some good there.

There are times, in war, when both belligerents want some excuse to quit, and then their quitting will be a service to the world. Our representatives must

RULE FOR DIET
A diet is a simple thing.
One rule there is to follow:
What you digest you must swallow.
What like you mustn't swallow.

Forget the doctor's printed list.
'Tis needless to run through it.
Your teeth may chew what's vile to you.
If pleasant, then eschew it.

Be not concerned with calories
Or carbohydrate curious;
What's bad is good. It's understood.
What's food is most injurious.

Don't search his list for tasty food
Because you'll never strike it.
Eat all you wish of some sour dish.
But shun it if you like it.

At the end of 1935, there were 10,891 postoffices in Japan.

NOT ENOUGH FOOD

A committee of the League of Nations spent two years studying health conditions all over the world. Its report, just issued, asserts there is no country in which proper nourishment is not a serious problem. It is impossible to estimate fully the cost of malnutrition, in disease and poor health, in loss of efficiency, and in the money spent in attempting to repair the damage done.

City dwellers are not only victims of this condition. The farmer and his family, particularly on the one-crop farm, also suffer from it.

"That this situation can exist," reads the report, "in a world in which agricultural resources are so abundant and the arts of agriculture have been so improved that supply frequently tends to outstrip effective demand, remains an outstanding challenge to constructive statesmanship and international co-operation."

The committee suggests for each country the organization of national nutrition committees, to bring together scientists, economists, agricultural experts, consumers, representatives, teachers and administrators to discuss the problems involved.

The production of food-stuffs has never yet outstripped human need. It has only outstripped the ability of millions of people to buy the foods they require for adequate nourishment. Standard of living, income, distribution are the laggards here.

VOLATILE MARKET

First the bottom dropped out of the stock market again, scaring the Street and the country with memories of 1929. Then prices surged up again, suggesting that it was a false alarm. Then they bobbed up and down, in an irrational but generally hopeful way.

Lately the situation has seemed definitely more cheerful, with many losses recouped and business sentiment around the country distinctly better.

Perhaps it was a false alarm after all. Not another 1929, anyway. At the worst, most authorities seem to think only a temporary setback. Basic conditions would not justify a major slump at this time.

Things will probably get better before they get worse. Experts guess there will be two or three years of fair or really good business before another big slump comes—if one comes. Some insist that, with the experience gained from the unprecedented plunge of 1929, and with the new controls set up by the government and business, there will hardly be another slump in the future so bad as the last.

All of which will be as it may. Few people pretend to know all about economic laws any more. The important fact is that a nation very badly frightened lately about business conditions is feeling more confident now.

It might be better all along if people would pay less attention to the stock market, as a business or prosperity barometer.

be careful not to commit this country unwisely or too far. With that reservation it may still be said, with all deference to Gen. Butler, "Blessed are the peace-makers."

"FREEZING" CANCER

New hope dawns for cancer victims with the announcement that Philadelphia surgeons have had good results with the "freezing" process. They make no claims to a "cure," but their procedure is novel and encouraging.

In a number of serious cases, they report, they have succeeded in giving relief from pain and in arresting the cancerous growth, and even shrinking its size. They have developed special apparatus to chill the abnormal tissues. The theory is that these tissues require a high temperature to grow, appearing oftenest in the warmest parts of the body, and therefore they stop their growth when cooled.

The process is still in its early experimental stage, but is clearly encouraging. It may be the beginning of real progress in handling this baffling disease.

Temperature apparently plays a more important role in bodily process than anyone used to think. For ages fevers were regarded as destructive, and active measures were taken to reduce the patient's temperature. Then it was learned that fever is really constructive, being one of Nature's ways of fighting disease—that in many ailments the rise of temperature tends to kill the germs which have caused it. So physicians nowadays often produce artificial fevers, raising the body's temperature to hasten the process of recovery. Unfortunately Nature seems to be at a loss, so far, in dealing with the lawless cancer cells, so man must find a way.

WOMEN JURORS

Women make the best jurors, says a federal judge in New Jersey, addressing prospective women jurors on "what a judge expects of a jury." He says he likes to have as many of them as possible on jury duty, because they are more high-minded and less idealistic, pay closer attention to the evidence than men do, and are less cynical.

This really seems to be a task for which women—at least American women—are peculiarly fitted. It is an important discovery, in an era when so many women have more leisure than their sex ever had before, and are looking for opportunities for useful public service.

The death of George Horace Lorimer makes us think of the Satevepost, and thinking of its curious transformation makes us wonder what Ben Franklin would think of his newspaper now.

He was reported resting well Friday morning and is expected to be out in a few days.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A subcommittee of the house agriculture committee conferred today with Secretary Wallace on tentative provisions of cotton crop control legislation to come before the special session of congress.

Chairman Fulmer (D-S.C.) said before the conference that proposals for both compulsory and voluntary crop control probably would be discussed.

LLANO COUNTY'S ONLY CONFEDERATE VETERAN IS NOW 92

LLANO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Llano county's only confederate veteran, E. H. Alexander, whose life spans the whole history of the state, observed his 92nd birthday here Oct. 27 in the house that has been his home nearly 50 years.

Second in a family of 10, he has two younger brothers living. Dr. C. W. Alexander of Oklahoma City and L. T. Alexander of Wellington, Texas.

Alexander, a former Llano county official, was born at Columbus while Texas was a republic. His father, L. W. Alexander, came to Texas from Pennsylvania in 1835, settling first in Columbus. Her served under Gen. Sam Houston in Texas' war for independence.

Alexander, and his son, Amos Jr., were killed by the Indians in Fayette county near the little town of Bastrop while driving from Bastrop to Galveston for merchandise. Seven years ago Alexander erected a monument on the site where his grandfather was killed and buried.

He enlisted in the confederate army when 17 and served in Captain William L. Foster's Company D, 32nd Texas Cavalry. His military service was spent in Texas and Louisiana, and was in Houston when the war ended. His company was disbanded April 28, 1865.

He returned to Columbus, bought a farm and was married April 15, 1869. In 1878, the couple moved to Burnet and L. Llano county in 1885, locating on Miller's creek. Three years later they moved to Llano where Mrs. Alexander died in 1893.

Alexander served as county surveyor from 1888 to 1894, district and county clerk six years, and later was county commissioner several terms.

Despite his age Alexander is in good health except for blindness. He has two sons and three daughters: T. H. Alexander of La Pryor, Hardy Alexander of Austin, Mrs. Lemuel Newberry of Chihuahua, Mexico, Mrs. J. F. Buttery and Mrs. E. J. Dalrymple, of Llano.

FARMERS URGED TO SOW SOIL BUILDING CONSERVATION CROPS

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 6.—Farmers of Texas and of the South who are cooperating in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's agricultural conservation program are being urged by AAA leaders to sow soil building crops and carry out other conservation practices this fall.

"Texas farmers have almost two months remaining in which they can plant winter soil building crops and carry out practices which will qualify them for payment under the 1937 program," Chairman George Slaughter of Wharton, of the Texas Agricultural Conservation committee, said. The committee has headquarters at Texas A. and M. College. Texas farmers earned only $4,534,282 in payments of the $6,361,196 allowance for Texas in the 1936 program, Mr. Slaughter said. Acting Director L. W. Duggan, of the AAA Southern region, has reported farmers of his entire division failed to earn $5,184,401 which they would have received had it been possible for them to carry three completed programs in full. They had soil building allowances totalling $19,912,215 but earned only $14,747,813, Duggan said.

Freestone County Oil Field Grows; Negro Is Killed

It is expected work will start in the near future on improving a road from Young to the field, about six miles, through the Trinity river bottom, in order to give inlet and outlet to the field through Freestone county.

Negro killed in crash. In a head on crash between a truck and a car loaded with negroes Saturday night on Highway 75 in North Fairfield, Butler Stalworth, negro, was killed, and two Keaton negroes injured. The accident occurred about 10 o'clock and a Burleson ambulance answered the call.

LOCAL FISHERMEN TEST OUT SLOGAN OF PORT ARANSAS

HALLS AND PAULS LAND MANY FISH ON OUTING ALONG GULF

Fish — and fishermen — were caught by a Corns party who spent a few days on the coast recently en route to a church convention, and the unexpurgated version of what actually happened also served to prove the slogan of the fishermen in the party.

On the front page of the "Aransas Pass Progress" of last Thursday under a caption extending over two columns reading "Apologize After Fishing," the following appeared:

"A group of literally minded visitors, among whom was a minister, dared to doubt the veracity of the widely advertised slogan 'They Bite Every Day,' voicing this disbelief to all persons, W. R. Scrivner, others in such a position might have been put in a spot. But not Mr. Scrivner!

"When confronted by the skeptics, the Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Paul, of Corsicana, Texas, who had stopped on their way to the Synod of Texas, which meets in Kingsville this week, to visit with the Rev. and Mrs. Francis M. Taylor, Mr. Scrivner knew the proof must be forthcoming.

"A fishing trip was planned for Monday under the direction of Florida Roberts of Port Aransas.

"Results Were Good. They came back entirely won over declaring 'The half has never been told.' The morning's catch included two hundred and seventy fish which were dressed and sent to the pre-Mex school at Taft.

"In an effort to settle, once and for all that 'they bite every day,' Mr. Scrivner shot the works, insisting that they go after bigger game in the afternoon.

"The tarpon were running wild, and there was much excitement when great schools of them were seen playing in the Gulf. There were other sporting fish, too, but they were so big that lines were snapped immediately when they would strike.

"Dr. F. M. Davis landed an 18 1/2 pound jack fish which gave him the tussle of his life.

"Others in the party including Mr. Davis, Dr. H. E. Adams, Paul, hooked plenty of tarpon, jack fish and the weighty invertebrates that would not come to the surface for identification. The only thing that proved a place of the afternoon was the absence of the two ladies Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Paul, who were completely satisfied with the morning's catch and could no longer resist the lure of a comfortable room at Tarpon Inn for convalescence.

"As the day came to a close the fishing stories grew to such proportions that they filled all the pages in the dictionary were exhausted. But all vowed to return again."

"Editor's Note—Apparently only one fish was caught in the afternoon—the ladies were not present—proving who really caught the fish."

WACO ENTRANT IS WINNER GAS MODEL AIRPLANE CONTEST

Carl Forkell of Waco, flying a Red Zephyr gas model airplane, powered with a one-sixth horsepower motor, won first prize in the Corsicana Gas Model Airplane Contest in the White's Chapel community near here Sunday. James Brantley, president of the association, won second place, flying a Flying Quaker plane powered with one-fifth horsepower Brown Motor.

Forkell's plane clocked one minute and 42 seconds flying time, and Brantley's was timed at one minute 14 seconds. The winning plane weighed four pounds, and Brantley's weighed six and three-quarter pounds.

Other planes were entered from Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco and Corsicana. Wind, estimated at 40 miles per hour, made flying the light ships difficult, and resulted in only a few flights by the 12 planes entered.

A Dallas enthusiast was reported unofficially to have flown four miles in four minutes.

DRIVERS LICENSE EXAMINERS TO BE HERE ON THURSDAY

MORE DRASTIC TESTS FOR THOSE SEEKING LICENSES FOR FIRST TIME

Two driver's license examiners of the department of public safety will be in Corsicana on Nov. 18 to conduct tests for drivers applying for their first license. T. A. Farmer, assessor-in-charge of tests, was advised by Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the public safety department.

Under the new rules and regulations in force, the testing of driver's license is now out of the hands of the assessor and collector in the various counties.

Headquarters for the examiners will be at the office of Assessor and Collector Farmer at the court house and the uniformed officers will give the examinations each Thursday from 2 to 5 p. m., and each Saturday from 10:30 a. m. to 2 p. m.

In applying for the driving tests, the applicant must furnish his own vehicle or one he proposes to operate after he secures a license.

Oral quizzes will be given each applicant and he will also be required to operate the vehicle over a designated route under the supervision of the uniformed examiners. During the drive the operator must demonstrate the use of his foot and hand brakes, stop for signals and perform other acts necessitated in ordinary traffic situations. Questions on safety regulations, signals, highway laws, and tests of eye-sight and hearing will be included.

Persons failing to make the passing grade the first time will be issued an instruction permit for another examination at a later date.

Officials urge that drivers seeking their licenses verse themselves in safety regulation, rules of the highway and mechanical operation of their vehicles.

WALLACE DECLARES PENSION GRANTS TO REMAIN UNREduced

GOVERNOR ALLRED SAYS IF BANKS PRESS LOAN PAYMENT REDUCTION CERTAIN

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—(P)—John F. Wallace, board of control member, testified today that pension grants would not have to be cut unless revenues slumped or a group of banks forced repayment of a $1,627,000 loan.

His reply to rumors that many thousands would be dropped from the rolls was that "the board has no information to indicate any material change in the case now."

Wallace was a witness before the house prearranged investigating committee.

The board of control member did not take into consideration repayment of any of the loan except the $200,000 which will be paid by the state and January 1. He said the banks so far had cooperated to the fullest extent and he did not expect them to attempt to force repayment.

Wallace's statement was based on an estimate that proceeds of existing revenues would continue as good as they were in October, when they were about $120,000 above the previous average.

Governor Allred said that at his press conference that if the loan was paid without provision of new revenue pension rolls would have to be reduced, and he was opposed to such reduction.

He further said it was general talk pressure for trimming the rolls was coming from the federal government and he favored a "showdown" to place the responsibility.

"I'm against further cutting," the governor said. "I'm not going to carry the ball for the federal government. I think $14 a month is not enough for a pension, especially in the winter months."

"I think it is wrong to hold out and not pay to old people who are going to be hurt. It seems the banks which loaned the state $1,626,000 have been paid for the time being, but I know that if the loan is paid some of the banks are going to be cut off the rolls or the amount of pensions will have to be cut down. I don't see how they can do the job without it and I'm against it."

The board of control announced yesterday it had agreed to pay the banks $100,000 a month for two months and then re-examine the situation with reference to future handling of the loan. Governor Allred recently called a session of the legislature to finance the loan and provide other assistance in the security of the session ended without action. "The general talk is that pressure for reducing the rolls is coming from the federal government," the governor said. "I don't want them to take the responsibility for it, and if the legislature doesn't provide money, it ought to take the responsibility for it."

NAVARRO COUNTY PRISONERS WILL WORK OUT FINES

Navarro county commissioners court can now decide the rate for paying out working out fines assessed in justice, county and other courts by prisoners convicted and fined.

Governor James V. Allred Thursday signed a bill passed at a recent special session of the Texas Legislature, giving the commissioners this authority. The bill was presented and passed through the efforts of J. J. Kelt of Chalfield, representative from Navarro county.

Under the old statutes, prisoners working out or paying out fines in jail were allowed three dollars per day.

The commissioners court recently authorized county authorities to try to procure such a special law for this county, and working out of the county, rented a large farm to augment the present small acreage at the county farm in Petty's Chapel community northeast of Corsicana. Additional farming equipment, feed and mules have already been purchased by Commissioner Joe George for the county farm under a recent resolution passed by the court.

It is likely that the commissioners Monday at its regular meeting will consider the new price to be allowed.

In addition to the revenue expected to be procured from the products and crops of the enlarged farming operations by the county, the prospect of persons fined in justice courts paying the fines rather than paying or working them out is heightened. Under the old system, a person fined fifteen dollars could lay out the fines in five days and there was a tendency not to pay the fines and save the money for many hauled in court do not make that much per day at their jobs and avocation. Faced with the prospect of two weeks hard labor at the farm or in cutting wood in the bottoms, the cash fines are expected to be materially increased with the attendant housing of the cash in the county treasury and also a decided cutting down of the cost of feeding the prisoners in the county jail.

Farmers Attending Meeting For Cotton Standardization

Representatives of nearly every section of Navarro county were present Friday afternoon in the county courtroom for a cotton staple standardization meeting. E. A. Miller, extension service agent, and Fred Lichte, gin specialist, were the principal speakers.

The meeting was one of a series held in the Texas cotton belt.

EAR OF AUTOMOBILE DRIVER IS QUICKER THAN HIS EYE TESTS MADE AT UNIVERSITY PROVE

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 5.—(P)—The ear of an automobile driver is quicker than his eye in responding to a safety warning. An auto horn, or a policeman's whistle, puts the driver's foot on the brake faster than the sight of a red light.

These findings in safe driving were announced today at Indiana University. They were the first tests to compare a driver's reaction time to sound and sight. The tests were made by Dr. Frank R. Elliott and Prof. C. M. Lott of the psychology department.

Seven hundred drivers were tested. Each one sat in the driver's seat with one foot pressing the accelerator half way to the floor. The time required to lift this foot to the brake and press the pedal all the way down was taken.

The signal to put on the brake was either a red light directly in front, or an automobile horn. The signals were given with the car standing still. All groups, whether men or women, young or old, responded more quickly to the horn than to the light.

The average advantage of the ear over the eye was one-fourth of a second. In individual cases, however, the fastest braking time for the red light was three-tenths of a second; the quickest for the horn a little more than two-fifths of a second.

Men were a little faster than women in responding to either light or horn.

The time decreased moderately with the age of the driver. Persons with the higher mental ratings were quicker than any other class.

POLARIZED LIGHT BRINGS NEW INFORMATION TO SCIENTISTS ON COVERINGS HUMAN BODY CELLS

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—(P)—Hitherto unknown architectural parts in the structure of cells and nerves of the human body, discovered by polarized light, were reported to the symposium on biophysics here today by Professor Francis O. Schmidt of Washington University.

One discovery is "shingles" that form the outer coating of cells. The cells can be seen with the aid of a microscope, but the nature of their surface covering has been a mystery.

Polarized light, the professor said, shows the cells are sheathed in bits of protein, laid on like leaves. Between the protein "shingles" like putty filling cracks are thin layers of lipid, or fat.

Learning more about the nature of these cell "shingles" is one of the present important studies of biology, because they are the membranes through which man's food and oxygen have to pass to keep him alive.

It has also been discovered with polarized light, Professor Schmidt said, that nerves are made of these same protein-fat membranes. They cover the nerves like wrapping paper around a rolled-up magazine.

The interior of the nerve is a watery core. The protein fat wrappers are rolled several layers deep around the inner nerve core to form a sheath like heavy rubber tubing around a heating pipe.

Polarized light is rays which vibrate in only one direction. This kind of light, passing through living tissue, is bent back and forth. The bending enables biologists to deduce the shape and qualities of the structure causing the bending.

TEXAS AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS TO FACE REAL EXAMINATION WHEN SEEKING LICENSE AFTER NOV. 15

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—(P)—Texas drivers applying for licenses after Nov. 15 will face a real examination asking about their health, habits, and ability.

On that date approximately 50 trained examiners of the driver's license bureau will start enforcing the new license law requiring physical and driving tests and designed to keep from the roads inept drivers blamed by many for increasing roadside death.

In addition, vehicles used by applicants for the new license law requiring physical and driving tests and designed to keep from the roads inept drivers blamed by many for increasing roadside death.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, public safety department director, said officers will be in every county seat at least once weekly, more frequently in others, and in some cities every day.

"The schedules are arranged so most examiners will cover more than 100 miles daily and while on the road will function just as highway patrolmen," he said.

"This will give us a maximum patrol strength of 200 men, compared with a previous average of little more than 100 who were expected to police 22,000 miles of roadway."

Officials hope the license law qualifications, coupled with greater vigilance on thoroughfares, will cut sharply into the mounting toll of highway carnage, although the requirements touch only prospective drivers seeking their first license.

Deficit In State General Fund At $15,747,888 Mark

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—(P)—The deficit in the state's general fund for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1937, is $15,747,888, according to a report by the state treasurer.

State Treasurer Charles Lockhart reported it was $15,747,888, compared to $14,431,283 on Oct. 1, 1936, a gain of $1,316,605.

Lockhart called for payment all general fund warrants through last April 5. The new call number was 134,124.

The deficit in the federal pension fund was $4,947,212.

Bank Clearings Continue To Show Substantial Gain

Bank clearings in Corsicana for the week ending Wednesday continued to show a gain over the corresponding period in 1936, according to figures compiled by officials of the Corsicana Clearing House Association.

Clearings for the past week were $282,000, compared with $274,000 for 1936, a gain of $8,000 or approximately 3 per cent.

CONSTRUCTION OF BRIDGE OVER CHAMBERS CREEK TO START SOON

Pavement on Highway 22 to Frost was completed Thursday afternoon and only the quarter of a mile of bridge over Chambers creek remains to be built.

From the main highway into the business district of Frost, according to an announcement Friday.

Work is scheduled to start on the construction of the bridge span over Chambers creek on the same highway southeast of Eureka about Nov. 15. The contract recently was let for $115,000. This span will extend approximately 2.250 feet from the edge of the bottom to the top of the huge levee on the east side of the new channel and will give an all-weather crossing.

The highway from the end of the Eureka 18-foot paved bridge to Anderson county can be used except in time of high water. The dump in the Trinity bottoms is only a few inches high at the present time and when the river is out of banks, the road can be used. No definite announcement has been made but it is expected that an all-weather crossing of the Trinity will be provided within the next few weeks.

Surveys Under Way. Surveys for bridges and other drainage structures on the feeder farm to market road, extending from Highway 22 east of Chambers creek, Kereens and into the bottom, will be open for traffic made by the highway department engineers. Considerable work was done several years ago under governmental project sponsored by Kereens and Anderson counties.

The water core. The protein fat wrappers are rolled several layers deep around the inner nerve core to form a sheath like heavy rubber tubing around a heating pipe.

Polarized light is rays which vibrate in only one direction. This kind of light, passing through living tissue, is bent back and forth. The bending enables biologists to deduce the shape and qualities of the structure causing the bending.

It is understood on good authority, however, that the contractor completing the link-to-Frost project does not intend to use his machinery as soon as the slab into Frost business district is completed. This is thought to be due to a belief or likelihood the state highway will be open for traffic.

The Highway 22 from the Eureka line into Hillsboro has been made into an all-weather road, although not paved.

Several bridges on the present route of Highway 31, a new pavon route have been re-constructed during the summer, and some work has been done on Ward bridge. The bridge over the Dawson river made into two-way bridge and it was thought here that Ward bridge would be doubled in size, but other than improvements in the surfacing on the bridge, nothing has been done.

The fact that the shoulders of the seven miles of nine-foot slab on Highway 31 through the Pursell vicinity have not been made into a two-way bridge and now Ward bridge has not been rebuilt lends belief in some quarters that there is a possibility that Highway 31 from Corsicana to the vicinity of McCallum in Hill county may be completed within the next year or two by the highway commission in its announced plan for closing gaps.

The Highway 31 slab both in McLennan and Hill counties and from Corsicana eastward is 20-foot concrete pavement.

Considerable work in building up the shoulders on the highway within Navarro county has been done during the past several weeks by the maintenance department of the highway organization in preparation for the winter months.

The various county commissioners during the past 90 days have had their road crews and organized on that basis, and they attempted to get the roads ready before the winter season sets in. The work had been at a standstill for some time before August and much activity has been reported since that time.

When and if the Trinity river bottom is made into an all-weather crossing on Highway 22, much of the automobile traffic will be directed through Corsicana eastwardly that portion going into Northwest Texas. When this route is finally completed, traffic now forced to go through the congested areas of Dallas and Fort Worth will have a direct route availing that condition as well as reducing the distance necessary to travel.

City officers reported Saturday an automobile stolen from E. L. McGee near the Dixie Club about 4 p. m. had been found abandoned inside the city limits.

City Detective Spencer and Constable W. G. Ivey arrested a negro Friday in connection with the burglarizing of the burglarizing of the county farm. A quantity of harness was recovered and the negro placed in the county jail.

REP. JOHNSON WAS GUEST SPEAKER FOR WORTHAM BANQUET

MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED AT ANNUAL AFFAIR ON THURSDAY EVENING

WORTHAM, Nov. 6.—(Spl.)—The Wortham Civic Club entertained more than two hundred guests seated at the banquet tables at their regular meeting Thursday evening when they presented their guest speaker, Congressman Luther A. Johnson of Corsicana and Washington, D. C.

Mr. Johnson's address is an annual affair of the Civic Club, but the Congressman's visit here was delayed this year due to his European trip, where he was one of the delegates from the United States to the World's Interparliamentary Union, which met in Paris, France.

The club met in the First Baptist church with the church women of the Methodist Protestant church serving the elaborate menu, which was interspersed with musical numbers of local talent, announced by the program chairman, Dr. F. W. Horn.

Club President F. W. Horn, who presided, presented the speaker of the evening as a friend of his father before he knew Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Johnson graciously acknowledged the introduction of his late friend's son, and with greetings to the large assembly of his friends, from Wotham, Fairfield, Street, Richland and Tehuacana, expressed a feeling to greet more personally this gathering.

Announcing his subject, the speaker pointed out, "There are two classes of people to beware of—one who has had an operation—and the other that has had a trip."

Mr. Johnson said, "There were 13 delegates from the United States and Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky was president of the American group. This was the 33rd annual conference of the interparliamentary union, composed of 400 delegates from 32 countries. The meetings covered eight days and all were held in the Luxembourg Palace in Paris. This organization makes no laws and no government is bound by its action, but the delegates are all members of the congress or some parliamentary bodies of government of the various countries they represent."

"The meetings each year is to discuss informally governmental problems affecting international relations. The meeting was of special interest at this time due to unsettled conditions throughout the world. The information which I obtained first hand of the existing conditions throughout Europe and other countries and in the subsequent trips will be most valuable in my work as a member of the foreign affairs committee in the house."

Mr. Johnson said, "There were high points of discussion centered around the subjects of commerce, economics and world peace. It was the universal desire of those representative countries of Europe and other countries to have a general European war. It is regarded as a possibility, it is the belief in Europe that such a war will not likely occur for several years, and there is hope that it may be averted."

"Three things impressed me most during the conference," continued Mr. Johnson. "First, the French president, who was the presiding officer of the conference, stood the entire time, and his interest in the speakers and interpreters. Second, the great respect entertained by other countries for our own United States, often referred to as that great and powerful United States."

"Universal Desire for Peace. Then the universal desire of those countries for peace throughout the world. Incidentally mentioning the Paris exposition in that great city of beauty and culture, with larger than our Centennial—but not more interesting and not more beautiful, declaring further that none of the capital cities of Europe seen were more beautiful than our capital city at Washington."

In brief summary of the 12 countries visited, Mr. Johnson named many interesting and outstanding facts: Cemeteries, all the new show the effect of war. St. Mihiel, the nation could show greater honor than here; Switzerland, picturesque in its setting of mountains and lakes; Austria, its major operation in the war makes one-fourth of its size now; Hungary, and other historical places, attributing the stability of its government. "God Save the King" always sung at conclusion of public affairs, the inscription seen on public places, business stores, such loyalty as demonstrated making the country so stable.

Mr. Johnson, in conclusion, declared: "No one takes a trip with out appreciating his own home, no one can return home without being a better citizen."

Married at Court House. Olin Bowers and Elvina Hoskbec, both of the Athens community, were married at the courthouse Friday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Judge W. T. McFadden.
